STRONGER TOGETHER

Metropolitan Regional Radio System

A man in a police uniform is shown from the side, holding a black handheld radio to his mouth. He is looking out of a police car window at a city street at night, with blurred lights from other vehicles and buildings in the background. A thin red line with a downward-pointing chevron is positioned above the headline.

We've got your back, New York.

L3Harris is the leading global supplier of secure communications and high-grade encryption solutions for defense, government, Public Safety, and commercial organizations. Rooted in national defense, mission-critical communications is in our DNA—it's how we live 24/7. We've designed, built and supported the biggest public safety, utilities and transportation systems in North America—why not yours? Across the globe or in your neighborhood, we stay cool when your world heats up.

LEAN FORWARD. WE GOT YOU.

When it comes to critical communications, settling isn't an option. The stark reality we face is shrinking budgets and legacy systems. You want industry-best tools and solutions. You want next-level connectivity and control today with the built-in flexibility to take on tomorrow. Here's why. As First Responders in fire and police, EMS, transportation, and utilities, you leave everything on the line day in and day out. Because no day is ever the same, the Metropolitan Regional Radio System is one thing you can consistently count on.

AFFORDABLE MEANS MORE

Joining the Metropolitan Regional Radio System (MRRS) gives you instant access to a proven P25 Phase II system that has the capacity and capabilities your team needs for essential critical communications. No dropped calls, boundless coverage, exceptional performance and worry-free maintenance.

WHAT BORDERS?

This system is designed by and for those on the front lines who understand this region's critical needs and unique challenges. By joining MRRS, you're reducing the very real burden of building out your own system—bypassing the complexity, the manpower, sweat equity, cost and time involved. Plus, you get access to quality devices, applications, network solutions and round-the-clock support and service. You're joining an established, proven system that is big on benefits, low in risk.

KEY BENEFITS

- > P25 interoperability right-sized for budget-conscious communities
- > Expandable capacity to handle thousands of users without maxing out or major infrastructure changes
- > Flexible, open standard design can incorporate both existing equipment and new technologies
- > Industry-leading devices, applications, dispatch and network solutions
- > Responsive, on-going support keeps you informed and your system running at peak performance

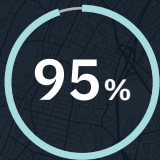

NOT USING P25? NO WORRIES.

L3Harris and MRRS make migrating easy. We've helped agencies of all sizes make the transition a smooth process. And the P25 system benefits? Worth it.
