L3HARRIS®
FAST. FORWARD.

In Camden, L3Harris delivers integrated communication systems for submarine and surface platforms, as well as shipboard and shore-based installations, serving the U.S. Navy, U.S. Coast Guard, Royal Australian Navy and allied forces worldwide. The facility also delivers critical naval power systems, including power distribution and switchgear for U.S. submarines, as well as circuit breaker power protection for U.S. submarines and global navies. L3Harris is a trusted leader in high-assurance cryptographic solutions that secure national security systems and defense communications for the DoW and intelligence agencies. These capabilities include MILSATCOM encryption, multifunction open systems, and seamless key management integrated with National Security Agency's (NSA) national infrastructure.

Based in Carlstadt, our subsidiary, ARDE, has produced thousands of engineered pressure vessels for spaceflight, launch, missile, environmental control and life support systems.

Cutting-edge L3Harris systems are also utilized by many of the state's first responders to keep themselves and their fellow New Jerseyans safe. L3Harris' resilient and interoperable radio systems provide first responders with a reliable lifeline during critical emergencies in Middlesex County, Atlantic County and Wayne Township.
